Tequila Selections

Blanco 8

This raw, robust tequila is the purest form of blue agave. Blanco tequila must be bottled or stored immediately after distillation. It is aged less than 2 months in oak barrels therefore the natural sweetness and intensity of agave come through in the flavor.

Herradura herbs, citrus, wood

Cazadores lime zest, herbs

Milagro pepper, spice, citrus, elegance

Corralejo white peppercorn, sweet spearmint

Partida citrus, herbs, tropical fruit

Don Julio citrus, black pepper, grassy undertones

Patron pure agave, smooth

Reposado 9

Reposado, or rested, refers to a tequila that has been aged a minimum of two months but less than 12 months in oak barrels. This tequila is the perfect combination of the bold agave and sweet oak flavors for those who do not frequently drink tequila. This tequila is pale in color, with a much more mellow taste than Blanco.

Herradura sweet, cinnamon, wood

Cazadores eucalyptos, spice, citrus, oaky

Milagro pepper, spice, citrus

Corralejo honey, peppercorn

Partida vanilla, hazelnut, almond

Don Julio dark chocolate, vanilla, subtle pear, apple

Patron slight oak, smooth

Anejo 10

Anejo, or vintage, tequilas are aged for a minimum of 1 year, but less than 3 years in oak barrels. Through this ageing process the tequila becomes an amber color, richer, and more complex in flavor, yet smooth to sip neat.

Herradura floral, spicy, vanilla hints

Cazadores hazelnut, lemon meringue, pine

Milagro smokey, sweet oak

Corralejo caramel, cooked pear, cardamom spice

Partida cherry, almond, dried fruit and spices

Don Julio honey, berries, oaky, butterscotch

Patron pepper, strong agave

Don Julio 1942 roasted agave, tropical fruits, spicy 18
